Mosaic-free Lilies for Fall planting

Pride of Charlotte

Plant clean, healthy stock free of the insidious mosaic which has accounted for most of your past failures with lilies.

Horsford's healthy bulbs will guarantee your success. Recent discoveries by scientists show mosaic as the greatest contributor to all losses in Hardy Lilies.

We can offer the following varieties in healthy stock and we give complete cultural directions with every order.

Amabile. A rare Korean of interesting shape. Grenadine-red, freely spotted black. July. 3 to 4 ft. 40c each, $4.00 per doz.

Canadense. We're sorry we can't guarantee the color of this wild Lily, but everything else about it is all right. May be a brick-red, or a clear golden yellow. June, July. 2 to 5 ft. 15c each, $1.50 per doz.

Centifolium. This variety is called a giant among lilies, with long, trumpet-shaped white flowers, streaked outside with brown and flushed inside with yellow at the base of the trumpet. July. Strong, flowering size bulbs, $1.00 each.

Concolor. Handsome little variety only 18 in. high with striking upright star-shaped flowers of a deep crimson shade with darker spots. It will stand full sun, lime soil and is suitable for rockeries. Base rooting and is best set only 4 in. deep. June-July. 40c each, $4.00 per doz.

Davidii. A very vigorous and dependable Lily of Turk's Cap type. Numerous red flowers. July-August. 4 to 6 ft. 80c each. $8.00 per doz.

Hansonii. Its nodding flowers, with their thick waxen petals, will bring you their delicate fragrance; the earliest of all lilies. Six to ten reddish orange blooms in a cluster. June. 3 to 4 ft. 60c each, $6.00 per doz.

Henryi. Given heights will vary with soil and growing conditions, but we've honestly seen this Lily 9 feet high. Very easy to grow, too. Graceful sprays of brilliant apricot-yellow. August, September. 75c each, $7.50 per doz.

Pride of Charlotte. This stately offspring of L. sargentiae is more rugged than its parent. Long, white funnel-shaped flowers with yellow throat and sometimes marked externally a deep reddish brown. 3 to 4 ft. July. 80c each, $8.00 per doz. Large bulbs $1.00 each.

Regale. A truly Regal beauty, and the best behaved queen of the lot. Parade her before a royal curtain of Delphinium to show her off to best advantage. White, slightly suffused with pink, shading to beautiful shade of canary-yellow at the throat. July. 3 to 5 ft. 75c each, $7.50 per doz.

Superbum. America's handsomest native Lily, in our opinion, with its immense, pyramidal cluster of blooms right up high where you can admire them. Brilliant orange-red shading to yellow and spotted with brown. July. 4 to 6 feet. 35c each, $3.50 per doz.

Tenuifolium. A small slender growing lily, not more than eighteen inches tall, with bright scarlet flowers and recurved petals. One of the prettiest little lilies in cultivation. Early June. 12 to 18 in. 25c each, $2.50 per doz.

Tenuifolium. Var. Golden Gleam. A fine type of L. tenuifolium with flowers of a beautiful apricot shade. A free and vigorous grower. 30c each, $3.00 per doz.

Tigrinum. Var. Splendens. By far the best form of Tiger Lily we have had. It is taller, with handsome, large flowers and a much healthier plant. 45c each, $4.50 per doz.

Willmottiæ. This is a very floriferous and hardy Lily; as many as 28 blooms have been borne on a single plant. In color it is like a shade of orange, or technically it is that of rouge saturne. It blooms with the Regale and seems to be quite hardy. 45c each, $4.50 per doz.

1948 Autumn Supplement

Plant Horsford's Hardy Perennials

for a Colorful, ALL-SEASON Garden

Nowhere in the whole plant kingdom can one find such variety of shape, size, color, and habit of growth with which to paint the garden picture as in the perennial group. Fall is the ideal time to plant perennials. In late August or early September, the Spring-and-Summer-blooming plants are making root-growth for next year's flowering.

Achillea will just fit that spot in every garden that is forever dry—perhaps from a rock too close to the surface or from thin soil. Their pure white flowers make bouquet highspots in the house.

Aconitum is mighty useful. It blooms from August to October, and, with its variety of blues, can be used to duplicate the spring effect of massed Larkspur.

Aquilegia. Call it Columbine or Honeysuckle—look for it in reds, yellows, blue, or white—wish it were 1 foot or 3 feet high—and this versatile perennial can provide the answer. Its spurred form is unique among flowers.

Campanula. Its perennial and biennial forms are cousins. The perennial single white and blue Bellflowers give great support to the early borders of the garden.

Coreopsis and the proper use of a pair of scissors will give you a profusion of bold, golden yellow saucer-like blooms all through the summer.

Delphinium. One of the five dominant perennials of the border. Its stately spikes make a superb background for such lilies as Regal and our own carefully developed Pacific Hybrids have an unusually stunning variety of colors.

Dictamnus. You won't like its pungent gaseous odor, but you will enjoy its interesting reddish purple flowers.

Digitalis. The venerable Foxglove is usually a biennial, but there is one strictly perennial yellow variety that is worth growing. Try D. ambigua.

Doronicum. Most of the early spring flowers are whites and blues, but here's one that is a gorgeous yellow, and has moderate height, too.

Echinacea. Everything recommends this daisy-like flower—its strong growth, its 4-foot stems, and its reddish purple blooms set off with a true orange cone. Mighty handy to have in July and August for cutting, because it lasts especially well.

Gaillardia. Our Regal Plants have been selected for both vigor and brilliant color.

Hemerocallis. Surely no flower in the garden works so faithfully to justify your selection of it! Though their gay Lilies last only for a day, other buds force themselves along to be ready for their orange or yellow blooms each morning.

Liatris is a rough-and-ready grower. Its foot-long spikes (with their perverse habit of blooming from the top down!) make an almost solid rose-purple tube.

Lupinus. Our own Russell Hybrids are truly breath-taking in their range of colors. They make a dazzling display in your early border, and, too, we seem to have been able to give them a vigor that carries them successfully through the difficult first year of transplanting.

Lychnis. Here is another group of bright, cherry perennials, in various shades of pink and red, that are invaluable to the June garden.

Mertensia is the true Bluebell of Virginia. It's best to mass it for an effect. Choose a location where its dark green foliage will be helpful after the loose panicles of blue-purple flowers have passed their spring-blooming period.

Pyrethrum Hybridum

Get Full Bloom a Whole Year Sooner

Save from 25 to 50 Per Cent — with Fall Planting

The plants listed in this folder are the very same ones we will be shipping next Spring (with the exception of the Peonies and Spring bulbs, which must be planted now). In your garden through the Fall and over the Winter they can be storing up energy, spreading out their roots, getting firmly established, ready to pay you extra dividends of bloom and fragrance as a result.

Summer and Fall are ideal for planting, too, because you can plan for your garden with it spread out before you in full growth. There's no question of "remembering" what you need—you can actually see the holes that need filling or the pictures that need completing.

Gaillardia Grandiflora

Monarda really belongs to the Mint family, but don't turn it down for that reason. For its showy flowers, with their sprawly petals of pink, cerise, or carmine, are unique in both shape and color, come along all through summer, and last a week or more in the house.

Oenothera. This homely name conceals the delightful Evening Primrose, with its free-flowering habit and cheery yellow flowers that pop open suddenly after lunch or in midafternoon.

Phlox is another "dominant perennial," noble, long-lived, dependable. You may have almost any color you wish, but please plant them in masses of a single color together. They look so much better that way.

Primula. These are the true hardy Primroses, low-growing, deep green foliage, and a profusion of cheery blossoms for your spring border.

Pyrethrum is a chrysanthemum cousin, although limited in color-range to the pinks, and crimsons. Best of all, they're just as sturdy and nearly as good cut-flowers as the main branch of their family.

Shasta Daisy. These give steady summer bloom of long-stemmed Marguerite-like flowers that are invaluable for cutting.

Statice, though entirely different in flower-form, is as useful as Gypsophila in the way it makes charming combinations with the yellows and oranges of other flowers.

Asplenium felix-fœmina

FALL PRICES ARE LOWER

We offer many collections in the Fall at prices that can save many dollars in building or maintaining your garden. It is not simply that digging the plants is easier and better—everything about Fall shipping saves us money.

The season is longer, we are not so rushed. It is actually easier to ship. Our stock is usually complete on all varieties. Frequently we have a surplus of some varieties that we offer at extra-special savings. (See the prices on our Peony Collections this year.)

We reflect all those savings in the prices in this list. And this year we believe prices are lower for our plants and bulbs than we will be able to make them for many years to come.

THIS FALL SUPPLEMENT

This Fall Supplement is not a full list of our stock. It is designed to call your attention to such plants and bulbs as are best set in autumn.

ALL PRICES ARE NET

On all plants or bulbs we will prepay postage, if you prefer, if 10 per cent is added to the price of the plants and bulbs in your order. Add 20 per cent for points west of the Mississippi. This covers both shipping cost and special packing. If no shipping method is specified, we will ship Express Collect. Lilacs by Express only.

TWO REGAL PERENNIAL COLLECTIONS OF RARE VALUE

Fall is the ideal time to plant perennials. In late August or early September, the Spring-and-Summer-blooming plants are making root-growth for next year's flowering. These two selections are true "pictures," chosen for their range of color, height, and form. Bought singly, they would be 50 per cent more expensive. No substitutions, please, at these special prices.

If you wish to purchase any of the above perennials in separate varieties they may be had at 35 cts. each, three of one kind for 90 cts., or $3.00 per doz., except for Dictamnus rubra and Aconitum fischeri which are 50 cts. each, three for $1.25, or $5.00 per doz.

PROTECTING PLANTS

A little protection is essential for nearly all the hardy plants in winter; not a protection so much against frost, for this is natural to them, but a protection against mild winter weather. Plants that are hardy enough for the severest winter weather may be killed by alternate freezing and thawing. Nature often provides protection in the dead foliage falling about the plant but we should protect them with three or four inches of marsh hay or straw put on in early November, with a little brush to prevent this covering being blown off.

HEMEROCALLIS

The Dependable Perennial

The new improved Hemerocallis (Daylilies) are among the most satisfactory of the more easily grown perennials and by using different varieties a long succession of bloom may be obtained in the garden.

NEW GIANT HEMEROCALLIS

Autumn Pioneer. Very late. Peach orange flushed. $1.25 each.
Bagdad. Rich brown red tones. June-July. 4 ft. $1.00 each.

REGAL PEONIES Ready to Grow and Bloom for You Next June

Somehow the idea has gained acceptance that Peonies require a lot of special care, a thought that always amazes us when we hear it. True, they don't like fresh manure around their roots, and they are particular about how deep you plant them, but beyond that their smash of bloom is ready for anyone willing to give them an ordinary Winter "blanket," and their fair share of fertilizer.

A lot of trouble probably comes from the use of tiny divisions instead of full-grown plants (at least a year old), such as our Regal Peonies are. And, certainly, no other plant can give such masses of brilliant green and such smashes of whites, pinks, and reds to repay you for the comparatively little care they require. Full, yet simple, instructions accompany every shipment of Regal Peonies.

Oriental Poppies

The Oriental Poppies form a striking set of perennial plants. Their immense blooms and their striking colors make a wonderful display. The following varieties can be supplied in field-grown plants dormant in August and September. They require almost no care, are completely hardy, and usually "steal the show" for two weeks in June.

Thirty-Three IRIS Selected for Your Garden

There are literally thousands of Iris varieties grown today. Many of them vary so slightly that none but the veriest professional can distinguish between them. We cannot grow them all, and we make no pretense of attempting to grow more than a truly representative list of types.

This is our selection of the best of each color pattern. Many of them may be purchased at a considerable saving in a collection.
